

Three Plans Advanced To Provide Funds For Unemployment Relief

State Legislative Leaders Will Hold Another Conference on Relief Problem After Proposals are Submitted to Party Members.

OTHER MEASURES

County Reform, Prohibition Issue, Advertising Signs and Other Bills Before the Lawmakers.

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Three plans were advanced today as legislative leaders struggled to devise a means to provide funds for unemployment relief until February 1, 1937, and bring the 1936 session to an end by Saturday.

They are:
A Republican proposal to reallocate $20,000,000 of last fall's $55,000,000 relief bond issue set aside for public works improvements, so as to take the necessary $10,000,000 from that fund instead of levying a new tax.
The governor's plan to raise the $10,000,000 by tax—preferably by the continuation of one cent of the gasoline tax which the Republican Assembly majority has voted to eliminate through a reduction in the executive budget.

Authorize submission to the November electorate of a $40,000,000 relief bond issue to be made available immediately, instead of $30,000,000 as recommended by the governor for use beginning next February 1.

Of the three, observers believe the latter to be the most likely choice on the basis of negotiations to date. This, however, would necessitate a special session of the legislature soon after election day—providing, of course, that the people should approve the issue—to appropriate the money.

No part of a bond issue can be appropriated without legislative action. Under the governor's plan, appropriations from the $30,000,000 issue would not be necessary until February when the legislature will be in session.

Legislative leaders and Governor Lehman discussed the problem for two hours yesterday, but broke up without any definite agreement. After the respective leaders have submitted the proposals to their party members, another conference will be held.

Once the relief problem is settled, leaders believe, adjournment can be accomplished within the governor's proposal for aligning New York state with the federal social security act as the only remaining major problems before the lawmakers.

County Government Reform
The Republican Assembly leadership debated privately today three plans to permit the reform and consolidation of county governments which were approved by the Senate without debate yesterday.

The bills were introduced by Senators George R. Fearon of Syracuse, Thomas C. Desmond of Newburgh, Republicans, and John L. Buckley of New York, Democrat, acting for the state tax revision committee.

All are intended to eliminate antiquated forms of county government, reduce expense and increase efficiency.

Advertising Signs

Removal by the state of all advertising signs adjacent to highways that are regarded as hazards to traffic is required under terms of a bill which emerged from the Assembly today and headed toward a vote in the Senate.

Regular inspection of all buses operated for hire is required under another highway safety measure passed by the Assembly. It now goes to the Senate.

Prohibition Issue

The Senate found itself face to face with the prohibition issue today in the guise of the Hollowell bill to permit municipalities to vote on the question of local option at the request of 10 per cent of the voters.

The Republican majority in the Assembly jammed the measure through yesterday, 73 to 57.

A vote on the bill in the Senate was doubtful because of the closing jam.

Extension of State's Power

Extension of the state's power development program to include vast untapped resources on the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers emerged today as a major recommendation of the State Power Authority.

In its annual report to Governor Lehman and the Legislature, the authority declared that "taken together, the power from the St. Lawrence and the additional power from the Niagara, publicly developed and coordinated, would provide the people and industries of the state with the cheapest current available anywhere in the world."

School Bill

The Kelly bill to provide transportation for parochial school pupils similar to that now afforded those in public schools reached the Assembly today after passage in the Senate.

MRS. E. S. DRAPER

Hopedale, Mass., April 29 (AP)—Eben S. Draper, former state senator, announced from his home today receipt of word from Mrs. Draper, his wife, reported missing since April 19, that she was "perfectly well" in London, England.

Mrs. Draper disappeared from a New York sanitarium on April 19. Since then she was sought aboard the Cunard-White Star liner Georgic, where it was feared she might have committed suicide by jumping overboard.

Draper said a cablegram arrived from Mrs. Draper after the Georgic docked in London today.

Watts Resigns After 20 Years Service on Civil Service Board

Harry S. Watts, president of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, today filed his resignation as a member of that board with Mayor Heislman to take effect at once. The mayor is expected to appoint Judge Augustus Shufeldt to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Watts.

Mr. Watts when asked this morning as to his reasons for resigning said that as he was holding another city position he thought it wise to resign from the civil service board. He was first appointed a member of the board during the administration of the late Palmer Canfield as mayor, and has served continuously for over 20 years under all administrations as an efficient member of the board.

It is understood that Mr. Watts was asked to resign from the civil service board by the mayor on the receipt of several communications calling attention to the fact that Mr. Watts was holding two city positions, although he was serving without pay as a member of the civil service board.

Judge Shufeldt, who will succeed Mr. Watts on the civil service board, at one time served as secretary of the board.

POUGHKEEPSIE APPOINTMENTS AWAITING CONFIRMATION

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Governor Lehman sent to the Senate for confirmation today the appointment of two persons as members of the Board of visitors of the Hudson River State Hospital.

They are: Mary W. Conner, of Poughkeepsie, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Elizabeth C. Lamont and Beatrice Bond Pearce, of New Hamburg, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Augusta Bliss Reese.

The governor also sent the name of Joseph A. McCabe of Poughkeepsie to the Senate for confirmation of appointment as a trustee of the supreme court library at Poughkeepsie to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John J. Mylod.

McNair Leaves Fight

Pittsburgh, April 29 (AP)—Pittsburgh's merry-making mayor, William McNair, lost his fight for a seat in Congress on the basis of nearly complete returns from the primary election. He ran for the Democratic nomination in the 22nd Pennsylvania district, but trailed his opponent, Herman P. Eberhart. The vote stood: Eberhart, 10,200; McNair, 5,662. McNair, lost at odds with the Democratic organization, sought to win independently. Eberhart is the organization's candidate. McNair's term as mayor expires in 1937.

Gonzalez Convicted Of First Degree Robbery, To Be Sentenced Friday

Prudencio and Jose Gonzalez Found Guilty of Robbing Laborers in a Boarding House at Kerhonkson.

CIVIL MATTERS

John Milici Brings Suit in County Court To Recover Damages Under an Action on Contract.

Prudencio and Jose Gonzalez, two young Spaniards who were charged with being members of a gang of five men who on October 12, 1931, held up and robbed a gang of state road laborers in a boarding house at Kerhonkson, were found guilty of robbery, first degree, by a jury Tuesday afternoon. The two will be sentenced in county court on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The two were charged by indictment with having entered the Emilio Rodriguez boarding camp at Kerhonkson at about 4 o'clock in the morning when the laborers were just beginning to get around for the day's work and lining the 35 or 40 men up against the wall and removing their money and valuables. The specific charge under which the two went to trial was that of taking $1,500 from Rodriguez.

Prudencio Gonzalez it was charged was the leader of the gang and it was testified that two days before he had been at the place looking over the scene. Both men attempted to prove that they were elsewhere on the day of the robbery, Prudencio at Atlas, Pa., and Jose at Hartford, Conn.

Testimony was closed Tuesday morning and Francis T. Murray, counsel for defendants, summed up before the noon recess and Assistant District Attorney N. Le Van Haver after lunch. Judge Traver charged the jury as to the law and the matter was submitted to the jury at 3 o'clock. At 4:40 o'clock the jury had agreed and made its report to the court.

Jose, who has been quiet and apparently calm throughout the trial, remained so when the verdict was brought in but his brother, Prudencio, gave evidence of being extremely nervous and defiant. After court had recessed he threatened District Attorney Murray with the statement "I'll get you sometime." Mr. Murray replied: "I'll be around."

Prudencio was identified as the leader or "chief" of the gang and one witness stated he would recognize Prudencio by the manner in which he clenched his teeth and wrinkled up his face when he became excited. At various times during the trial this expression was noticeable on the face of the defendant.

Civil Matters Taken Up

At the conclusion of the Gonzalez robbery case in county court Tuesday afternoon County Judge Traver took up the trial of a civil matter. The action is one brought by John Milici of Corona against Antonio, Grace and Angelina Frisa of Highland. Plaintiff alleges that he entered a contract to lease a property and paid $300 down but that he was not given possession. He seeks now to recover damages under an action on contract.

The defendant alleges that the plaintiff sought to take possession before the specified time and thereby violated the contract and for that reason the place was given to another. Lawrence Levine appears for plaintiff and A. W. Lent for defendant.

"Advisory Council" For Mayor May Result From Meeting Tuesday Night

Mrs. Clara Norton Reed, Chairman of Good Government Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs, Asks for Awakening.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

Official and Unofficial Backing is Guaranteed; Idea is for "A Better Kingston."

An "Advisory Council" to assist the mayor by making suggestions for the betterment of Kingston may be the outcome of Tuesday night's meeting in the Crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel, called by Mrs. Clara Norton Reed, chairman of the Good Government Committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Introduced by Mrs. Fred P. Luther, president of the Federation, Mrs. Reed gave an interesting word picture of Kingston in bygone days, continuing her story down to the present for the group of some 50 people, representing various businesses, professions, fraternal and civic organizations.

At the end of Mrs. Reed's hour and a half talk, which called for an awakening religiously, culturally and industrially, Mayor Conrad J. Heislman suggested the "Advisory Council." This idea seemed to meet with unanimous approval, and Mrs. Reed started a movement for organization of the same.

In a roll call of the various organizations represented at the gathering, some not officially, however, support of the movement was promised by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Junior League, Rotary Club, Retail Grocers, Kiwanis Club, Music Association, Ministerial Association, Medical Association, Bankers Association, Bar Association, City Library Association, Board of Education, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Parent-Teacher Association, Uptown Business Men's Association, Central Business Men's Association, Downtown Business Men's Association, Schoolmen's Club, Schoolwomen's Club, Dental Society, Federation of Men's Clubs, and the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Another meeting probably will be held presently for formal organization of the "Advisory Council."

Mrs. Luther, in introducing Mrs. Reed, said she regretted that there were not more civic minded people present to hear her. However, the meeting swelled as the time went on and at the conclusion, which was about 10:30, the Crystal room was well filled.

"We all know we could have a better Kingston," said Mrs. Reed, starting off, "My story is one of Kingston yesterday and today, with a conservative government that has not let us move as fast as our neighbors in some respects. We have had some fine leaders, but also too much politics in some cases."

"Politicians look for the next election; statesmen for the next generation."

Alluding to the Broadway crossing, Mrs. Reed said there would be no need for fighting for its removal today if politics hadn't played a major part in this project years ago.

Mayor Heislman, she complimented as being a statesman, and explained that it was on his suggestion that she moved to call last night's meeting, to tell to a group of interested citizens what she had explained to him during a social visit at her home.

Touching on the business life of Kingston, Mrs. Reed said, "There seems to be a lack of understanding between the bankers and business men." Then she explained that these two groups for the commercial advancement of the city should work in harmony.

"If we want Kingston to be what Kingston should be, we all must work with an understanding—work together. And, from points of opposition is where we can learn where we are weak. We should not be intent on our own efforts and disregard those of others," the speaker said.

Mrs. Reed's story of early Kingston, from the time she came here at the age of three years, with her parents, was very enlightening to the younger members of her audience, who enjoyed her descriptions of the several sections of the city, of the old blue-stone industry, the Delaware and Hudson Canal, the abandonment of which wrought havoc in the downtown business section, methods of transportation, especially the old horse-car, and the laborious means of hauling blue-stone from the Highlands district down to the Wilbur portion of the city on later wagons.

The speaker went into detail, too, about this city's institutions, mentioning the hospitals as the finest, the Library, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Industrial Home, which truly is a home, she said, and the school system.

About the cultural side, Mrs. Reed, a lover of good music, expressed a desire to see greater effort and interest along this line. She told of the concert formerly held here in the days of the old Kingston Opera House, when the late A. D. Cushman used that "the best and only the best he had" regardless of cost.

Mrs. Reed beautifully recalled a conversation she had as a small girl

800 Million Tax Bill Passes Democratic House Today, Senate Attitude is Warmer

Tax Bill at a Glance As Passed By the House

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The tax bill at a glance, as passed today by the House:

Corporations would be taxed on net income under rates graduated according to percentages of earnings withheld from distribution in dividends, to stockholders, and stockholders would be required to pay the 4 per cent normal income tax on dividends, which now are subject only to surtaxes.

The present corporation income tax would be repealed, and eventually the existing excess profits and capital stocks taxes.

An 80 per cent "windfall" tax would be applied to proceeds of who did not pay the old AAA processing taxes or received refunds of impounded taxes.

To provide "relief" for debt-burdened corporations, those with income insufficient to cover deficits and those in receivership would receive a flat tax rate on part of their income instead of the graduated corporation tax.

Flat rates also would be applied to banks, trust companies and insurance companies, since they are required by law to build up reserves.

Refunds would be granted on taxes on floor stocks on hand at the time the AAA was invalidated and on commodities sold abroad or to tax-exempt institutions.

Junior Chamber Votes Favorably on the New Constitution, By-Laws

The Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce became an actuality last night in the Governor Clinton Hotel when the constitution and by-laws of the newly formed organization was read and accepted with minor changes by the present membership of the group. The constitution and by-laws, constructed by N. Jansen Fowler and his committee, has moved through rough seas since the moment it was offered for the voting approval of the club. After considerable debate and revision, the newly worded constitution and by-laws was read by Mr. Fowler last night and it was adopted without additional oratory on its merits or weaknesses.

Much was accomplished last night once the club became organized and the membership was unanimous in its desire to get moving on various projects that would be of real value to Kingston and to Kingston business. Several interesting projects were discussed and the board of directors of the Chamber will meet immediately to consider the most advisable projects to undertake at the present time.

Al Flanagan, chairman in charge of the membership drive, gave a short report that showed his committee to be working hard to have a large membership before many more weeks have passed.

The also enjoyed a discussion by Miss Hood of the Harold S. Peat Lecture Service on methods of financing a newly organized club. The meeting was in charge of President H. G. La Mothe, who went through the order of business as quickly as possible in order that the members might hear the meeting Mrs. C. N. Reed had called in the next room to ascertain what was wrong with things in general and how Kingston could rectify those wrongs.

No Volcanic Eruption.

Hilo, Hawaii, April 29 (AP)—A reported eruption of Mauna Loa nicknamed out with a cane field today. Brilliantly hued clouds, reflecting fire from the slopes of the mountain, led to reports the turbulent volcano was active again. The coloring of the skies was visible for only a few hours and an exhaustive check of sources brought no confirmation. The Hilo Sugar Company said it burned a large cane field eight miles up the mountain early in the evening and the reflection from that probably caused the volcanic report.

Corporation Tax Revision, Funds for Bonus and Farm Relief Money are Embraced in Administration's Measure.

VOTE A FORMALITY

Only Four Changes in Original Draft; Backers Claim More Equitable Taxation.

Washington, April 29 (AP)—The administration's $803,000,000 tax bill was passed by the heavily-Democratic house today over opposition votes of the Republican minority.

The bulky measure, designed to raise funds to meet bonus and farm relief costs and embracing a complete revision of the corporate tax system, now goes to the Senate where the finance committee already has begun its consideration.

Tomorrow, Secretary Morgenthau will testify before the committee at its first public hearing.

A somewhat warmer reception awaited the measure in the Senate committee than it would have received last week. Criticism of the proposal was less in evidence among the Democratic committee members and many of them were forecasting its approval.

Major Feature of Bill

The major feature of the bill was a tax on corporation income graduated on the basis of earnings withheld from distribution to stockholders.

Linked with application of the normal 4 per cent income tax on dividends, it is expected to bring in $625,000,000 additional to help meet President Roosevelt's request for farm and bonus funds.

The vote on passage, cleft along party lines, was a mere formality which sealed the tentative approval given the bill yesterday. With only four changes—all proposed by the ways and means committee in charge of the legislation, the 236-page measure had been hustled through the amendment stage with such speed as to give rise to protests of "unfair" and "steam-roller" tactics.

More Even Taxation

Its backers claim it will lead to more equitable taxation, particularly as between corporations and partnerships, and at the same time remove the greatest loophole for tax evasion—the ability of individuals to avoid high surtaxes on incomes by impounding income in corporate surpluses.

Republicans contended the bill would shake the stability of business, tend toward creation of monopolies and fall far short of its estimated yield. They have branded it dangerous, unsound, vicious and radical.

In addition to the revenue to be produced from the new corporate tax plan, $100,000,000 is expected from an 80 per cent "windfall" levy on processors who did not pay AAA processing taxes and $83,000,000 from temporary continuation of excess profits and capital stock taxes.

The latter ultimately would be repealed, along with the present corporate income tax of 12½ to 15 per cent.

The new corporation rates would range up to 29½ per cent for corporations with taxable income of $10,000 or less and up to 42½ per cent for those with larger net earnings.

Special concessions in the form of flat rates have been made for corporations which must use some of their income to retire debts or meet deficits, and those in receivership.

Banks, trust companies and insurance companies, which are required by law to build up reserves to provide for deposits, would be exempt from the new graduated corporation taxes and would pay a flat 15 per cent on net income.

The bill also provides for refunds of taxes on floor stocks on hand at the time of invalidation of the AAA and on commodities but claims would not be allowed for amounts under $10.

Just what part Dr. F. E. Townsend and his cohorts will play in the elections this year is an unknown and unsettling factor for congressmen seeking re-election.

Then the plan was subjected to a congressional investigation. Dissension broke in the Townsend ranks precipitating the resignation of co-founder R. E. Clements. Investigators promised further disclosures.

Soss Melik Portrait at Safford and Scudder's

The recently completed portrait of the Hon. Henry Morgenthau, Sr., by Soss Melik, will be shown for two days in the window of Safford & Scudder on Wall street.

For the last week the portrait of Mr. Morgenthau was shown privately at the studio of Soss Melik on 80 Clinton avenue, to the artist's personal friends, who in turn have suggested that the people of Kingston may have an equal privilege to see the finely portrayed features of a former United States ambassador and the father of the present secretary of the treasury.

Because the portrait must be returned to Mr. Morgenthau within a limited time, it will remain in the window of Safford & Scudder Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. Page in his recent opinion on this portrait remarked: "Having seen Soss Melik's interpretation of Mr. Morgenthau is having seen and met Mr. Morgenthau in person."

After fashion of exhibiting portraits of great statesmen, the portrait will be draped with the Stars and Stripes.

Catskill Pastor On Stand Again Today

Catskill, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—The Rev. Ernest Glenn returned to the stand today as the state renewed its effort to send 20-year-old Alfred Volckmann to the electric chair for the murder of Helen Glenn.

The father of the nine-year-old murder victim had regained the composure he lost at yesterday's session.

Defense Attorney Clement D. Tennant completed cross-examination of the minister with a question as to why he had suspected Volckmann of the murder of his daughter.

Glenn said that "neighbors had intimidated the defendant had not told all he knew." He said he also was influenced by the fact Volckmann apparently had been the last to see Helen alive.

Supreme Court Justice Gilbert V. Schenck ruled out the answer as "hearsay" and Glenn was excused.

Mrs. Ella Hoos, a neighbor who was caring for the Glenn children in the absence of their parents at the time of the crime, told of missing Helen the night of June 26. She thought first, she said, the girl was attending school commencement exercises.

Mrs. Hoos described an early search for the girl and then told of notifying state police.

Jon Clivette, Leroy Lawyer, and James R. Geary, all of Greenville, who were present when the body was found in a gully near Basic creek, said it had not been disturbed before being photographed.

State Trooper Edward Merkle's testimony was along the same line. Volckmann's father again occupied a seat behind his son.

Roosevelt Backers Pleased At Voting

Washington, April 29 (AP)—Supporters of President Roosevelt for re-election and of Governor Landon of Kansas and Senator Borah of Idaho to oppose him in November drew satisfaction today from the Pennsylvania and Massachusetts primaries.

Overwhelming Col. Henry Breckinridge, his first primary opponent, the President accumulated a total in Pennsylvania that spoke for itself. Addition of the delegates from both states brought those listed for him to 442, or all of those so far selected, of the 1,100 to be seated at Philadelphia.

Because neither primary was binding on the delegates chosen, Republican leaders were hesitant to draw final conclusions about the big "write-in" demonstration for Landon in Massachusetts or the total polled by Borah unopposed in Pennsylvania. Of 592 Republican delegates now elected, 487 are uninstructed. There will be 1,001 in the convention.

Of the 105 instructed, Landon has 84 and Borah 21.

Endorsements and indications of preference have been given by various state and district meetings, and by some individual delegates. Claims including these conflict.

Supporters of Col. Frank Knox of Illinois have estimated his strength to date at 153 delegates.

Almost complete returns in Massachusetts gave the governor of Kansas more votes as the Republican presidential preference than all other possibilities combined. Landon supporters had long been campaigning with this in view, while friends of Borah, Knox, former President Hoover and others were quiescent.

Massachusetts Returns

Boston, April 29 (AP)—Complete returns of Massachusetts' 1929 election precincts in the Republican presidential preference primary, give:

Borah—4,342
Hoover—7,214
Knox—1,910
Landon—76,710
Vandenberg—2,117

The Mary Powell And Her Sponsor

Miss Mary Faxon Powell, namesake of the most famous Hudson River steamer of its day, if not of all days, was in her 100th year when she died last week in Utica, N. Y. She would have been 26, then, in the summer of 1863, when she stood by the new hull and gave it her name, to which the royal title "Queen of the Hudson" was added in the course of time.

Shorter lived than her sponsor but, like her, living to a ripe old age, the Mary Powell made her swift run from Kingston to New York and back for 60 years without loss of a single passenger or a serious accident (except the day her stacks were blown over in a high gale on the Tappan Zee and the captain made a landing under her own power), gaining color, affection and esteem progressively throughout her long career.

Her silver bell and the musical voice of Seymour Darling, Negro deckhand, calling the landing, her master, Abasalon Anderson, and his son after him, standing by the gangplank receiving (and sometimes rejecting) passengers as a good host his guests; the Hudson River etiquette that, in her later days, ruled that no steamer should overtake and pass the Mary Powell; the long list of fashionables and celebrities who viewed the river from her decks, visiting foreigners and the Hudson River noblesse, Presidents and royalty; the uniqueness of her lines and build—the designer burned his models when she was completed—all these things and many other qualities and properties made the Mary Powell more of a personality and myth than any other steamer or sloop that has ever made a Hudson River run.

Mississippi and Ohio River steamboats have entered into American folk songs and literature much more numerous and richly, with their bolder and rowdier drama. The Hudson River sloops and sidewheelers (Cooper and Melville have given us the former in strong lithograph) deserve more reminiscence and nostalgia, written and sung. The first chapters at least of the steamer closed with the scrapping of the Mary Powell at Rondout in 1924. The death at ninety-nine of the young woman for whom she was named is a postscript that should set some one who knows how stirring river life on the Hudson was in the nineteenth century to sketching in this background for the oldest gateway to the West—for the river that gave American writers and painters their first material and regional schools.—New York Herald Tribune.

Harry Weiss Is Held In $5,000 Bail Today

Brooklyn, April 29 (AP)—Harry Weiss, 28-year-old Brooklyn taxicab driver, was held in $5,000 bail today on an indictment charging kidnapping and assault on Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney, whose "confession" to the Lindbergh kidnapping delayed the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for three days.

Weiss, arrested yesterday in Youngstown, O., was arraigned before Kings County Judge George W. Martin after he had appeared in the Manhattan police lineup and had been questioned by District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan.

His counsel, former Magistrate Joseph Goldstein, asked that low bail be set, naming specifically the amount of $7,500 which was set for Martin Schlossman, another of those involved in the kidnapping. Schlossman is free in bail.

Judge Martin shook his head. "I'll make it $50,000 at this time," he said. "It might be wise to keep him in jail at present for his own preservation and health."

Weiss, Geoghan had said earlier, confessed his part in the kidnapping and named Ellis Parker, Jr., son of the famed Burlington county (N. J.)

detective chief, as the "finger man." "The district attorney," Judge Martin said, "surely must have some good reason for his request for high bail."

Geoghan recited briefly the history of the case, how Wendel was seized in midtown New York and taken to the Sheephead Bay section of Brooklyn, tortured and held prisoner for days before he was taken to New Jersey as "the kidnaper" of the Lindbergh baby.

In Trenton Wendel repudiated the confession.

"This case is very serious," Geoghan said, "serious enough, indeed, to ask for substantial bail."

Weiss entered a plea of innocent to the indictment. His attorney in asking for lower bail said Weiss desired to aid the authorities.

Endurance Drive Continues Test

Don Morse, endurance driver, continued on his 104 hour drive through Kingston and vicinity today, looking none the worse for the time he put in without any sleep since Tuesday noon, starting from the Colonial City Chevrolet Broadway and Albany avenue, with a big sendoff.

Morse is handcuffed to the steering wheel of his 1934 Chevrolet coupe, and is not allowed to leave the car for any reason, even to eat. He takes only light food while on the test, using foodstuffs that he advertises on his automobile.

The Kingston merchants sponsoring the endurance feature were advertised in The Freeman, Tuesday.

Morse will end his test Saturday afternoon, the 100th hour being up some time around 4 o'clock. He has been driving this way for more than four years, and boasts that once he went 128 hours without sleep.

As we draw nearer to the national election, the leading candidates as usual have less and less to say. Exemplifying, of course, our typical American modesty in public life.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rar! Is Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, it just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, runk and the world looks lunk.

Laxatives are only make-shifts. A green bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel up and up. Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, Doc.

Catholic Charities Summer Camps

With summer just around the corner and schools closing in less than two months, the 15 Catholic camps located in Dutchess, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Orange counties are already preparing for a still busier season than last year when 3,354 boys and girls were accommodated.

The camps, which provide outdoor vacations for youth at varying rates and in many cases gratis, are included in the annual appeal for funds to maintain the 212 agencies of New York Catholic Charities. The appeal, which started Sunday, will continue through May 4.

Houses and cottages belonging to the camps are being cleaned and aired, athletic fields and grounds are being prepared and counselors who will be present and train the children are being selected. Last year the camps had a religious staff of 52 and a lay staff of 247.

Thousands of boys and girls in the various counties are anticipating attendance at some one of these Catholic camps, which are conducted under auspices of the general scheme of physical, mental and spiritual education which Cardinal Hayes has developed in the Archdiocese of New York.

Especially dear to the Cardinal's heart is Camp Hayes for boys at Godeffroy in the Shawangunk mountains near Port Jervis. Organized in 1931, it has rapidly been increasing in popularity among the boys of the Archdiocese and last year it accommodated 385, with a greater number expected this season.

Other Catholic boys camps include Camp Acadia situated on a private lake at Livingston Manor. It is under the management of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph H. McMahon, Ph.D., who also manages Our Lady of Lourdes Camp for girls, on the opposite side of the lake. Monsignor McMahon is president of the Associated Catholic Camps and a pioneer in Catholic camp work.

Camp Lavelle at Cliff Haven last year accommodated 300 boys; Camp St. Agnes at New Paltz, 650; Camp St. Joachim at Beacon, 65; Camp Wapanachi at Mt. Tremper, 110, and the Salesian Camp at Goshen, 80. Dominican Camp at Staatsburg accommodates both boys and girls, most of the children remaining for the entire season.

Among the well-known Catholic girls camps is Camp Marydell at Nyack conducted by the Sisters of Christian Doctrine. From the Hudson river, on which there is a private beach, the 75 acres which comprise the camp property stretch back to precipitous hills. During the years following the World War this camp was used by the Sisters as a convalescent home for soldiers.

The girls at Camp Marydell live in airy, log bungalows, surrounded by evergreen trees and old-fashioned gardens. Athletics include swimming, mountain climbing, volleyball and hiking.

The Carroll Vacation Club at Pawling is for older girls, many of them business girls who choose the club for their two weeks' vacation period. It is conducted by the Carroll Club of which Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady is president, and offered recreation and good food to 546 girls last year.

Camp St. Joseph at St. Joseph's, for girls from 6 to 16 years of age, is under the spiritual direction of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Vincent Arcese, with the Rev. Mother Polycarpa, O. S. D., as executive director. The camp is situated on Lake Dominic in Sullivan county, a location well known for its high altitude. The spacious recreation hall overlooks the lake and the dining room. The girls sleep in cottages, built in circular formation in groups of three, planned to give proper ventilation regardless of the weather.

Other girls' camps are Camp Broadlea at Goshen, for girls from 7 to 13, and Camp Sunset at Plattsburgh for the 7 to 17 years of age.

Convicts Know the Dog Watch 'Gets Its Man'

Darius (left) and Pietro, police dogs from Switzerland, are trained to pursue any running man and to grab any vest holding a weapon. They're on guard at the Chillicothe, Ohio federal reformatory.

By WILLIAM M. PINKERTON

Chillicothe, Ohio, (AP)—The federal industrial reformatory slows down on a walk at 4:30 p. m. each day. Pietro and Darius start their guard tours at that hour.

The two pioneer guard dogs of the federal prison service, who came here as an experiment two years ago, have convinced guards and inmates alike, it is not safe to run across the wide prison yard while they're on duty.

Trained in Switzerland to bring down a running man and to disarm a man carrying gun or club, Pietro and Darius patrol the fields of the reformatory reservation at the heels of their guards each night.

No Man Gets Past.

So successful have they been that eight other dogs have joined the federal prison guard staffs at institutions where large tracts of outside territory must be patrolled. No man ever has slipped past them.

If the guard sees a prowler, a word speeds the dog after him, if the man stops dead in his tracks, the dog will not attack. If he brandishes a weapon, the dog will grab his wrist.

To guards and others at rest, the big, muscular police dogs are friendly and affectionate. But a man on the run is their enemy.

Guards here tell the story of a doubter who scoffed at Pietro and Darius when they first arrived. "You can't tell me those dogs will attack a running man," he said. Guards who had trained with the dogs in the east offered to let him experiment.

The doubter set off for a garage a short distance away. Giving him a head-start, the guard loosed his charge. The man slammed the door behind him just as the dog leaped at his leg. He didn't scoff after that.

Another time, an inmate chasing a long fly on the baseball field during the late afternoon "rest" period ran directly into the path of one of the dogs. Guards had cautioned inmates repeatedly to stop when the dog gave chase. The inmate-fleeer was intent on the ball, however, and the dog was after the man before the guard could stop him. A sharp command from the guard stopped the attack just in time.

Ounce of Prevention.

At the heels of their guards, the two dogs are quick to obey the slightest command. A slight motion of the guard's hand, and the dog will sit down. Another, and he will lie down, arise, heel, move forward or backward.

Unlike the old-time prison bloodhound, the police dogs are best known, not for tracking a lost prisoner, but for stopping a man before he can make his escape.

Events Around The Empire State

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education, in a letter to all rural school meetings, advised each district today to "make sure your budget is ample to allow for procuring the services of a thoroughly competent teacher."

Schenectady, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Granville Hicks, Guggenheim Fellowship winner and former professor at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, told the Gavel Club Union College student organization today that "our Democratic rights to criticize, to organize and to express our opinions are being threatened by the disquieting tendency toward more autocracy and more oligarchy."

Utica, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Committees of the New York State Circulation Managers Association drafted resolutions today to uphold the freedom of the press and establish 12 years as a minimum age for newsboys.

Albany, N. Y., April 29 (AP)—Housework has attained the status of a career for women, Miss Anne Marie Driscoll of Washington, National Supervisor of the Federal Houseworkers Training Project, declared at a WPA conference here today. Miss Driscoll said practice centers for training women would be set up in Albany, Rochester, Nyack and Buffalo.

New York, April 29 (AP)—Lawmakers of both parties drew sharp criticism today from Margaret I. Tanzer, assistant secretary of the Citizens Union of New York, who declared the state Legislature has accomplished little and has "wasted much of their time and your money in useless political wrangling."

Flow Designs From Potatoes.
The plan invented by Jettro Wood in 1831—with moldplate, share and landage—last separately—forecast modern plows. But Wood had great difficulty in getting workmen to mold his plows as he wanted them. He was haunted with being a "whittling fanner" because he whittled away bushels of potatoes before he had a miniature model plow that suited him. Seward, Lincoln's secretary of state, said, "No citizen has conferred greater benefits on his country . . . none has been more inadequately rewarded."

Cedar Closets
With warm weather almost upon us, the annual question of storing blankets and winter coats arises. A cedar-lined closet saves a lot of worry and a lot of damage. Strips of aromatic cedar can be nailed to the wall of a closet, but must be done carefully if it is to be effective. A reliable carpenter can do this type of work inexpensively.

Trend to Lower Height Of Ceilings Prevalent

In most of the northern portions of the country ceiling heights have been brought down from the 10 to 12-foot elevations that our Victorian forebears cherished. The realization that all that space is useless waste, and the reversion to the simple Colonial types of architecture have restored the proportions of rooms to those of that early day.

In some sections, the South particularly, the high ceiling still prevails. There are several reasons for this: The feeling that this extra space makes the rooms cooler, the lower cost of building, the absence of need to figure the heating charges as a prominent item of household expense, and the tradition of the stately old mansions of ante-bellum days.

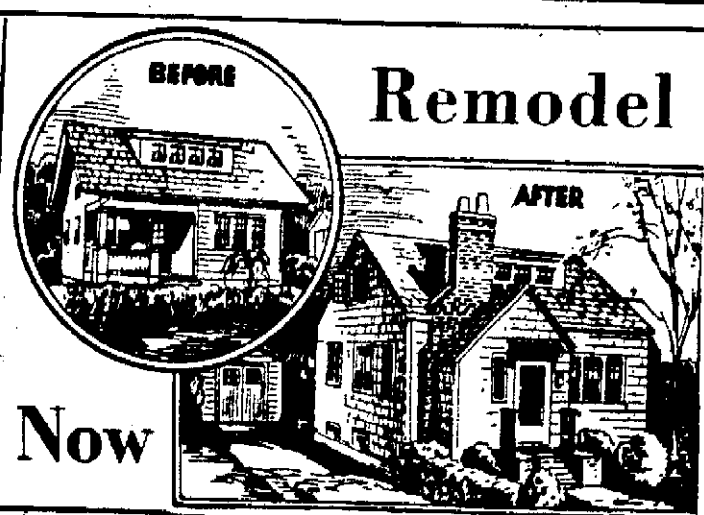

While the psychological effect of great spaces above is to create a feeling of coolness, actually, unless that space is properly drained of its heat, it merely serves as a place to store up hotter and hotter air, which, in turn, heats the ceiling and the floor above. Any space more than 12 inches above the heads of the windows, unless ventilated, is of no value for cooling purposes.

If the heads of the windows are seven feet above the floor line—which is well above the heads of most people—then a room with an eight-foot ceiling is really better than one with a 10-foot ceiling. In small houses the general proportions will be much more pleasing with this lesser height.

Laundry Chute
The problem of collecting soiled linen and clothes and storing it until wash-day is an annoying one in many homes. Hampers and bags get unpleasantly full and take up valuable bathroom or hall space. A laundry chute may be built with openings on all floors, and the linen may be dropped in it, to be whisked away to a bin in the basement where, at the proper time, it will be handy to the laundry room.

'Advisory Council' For Mayor May Be Results

with Dr. Leopold Damrosch, celebrated musician, who said, when he was asked from her parents that she was studying piano, "Learn to be a musician whether you become a performer or not." Mrs. Reed has always been interested in music.

We must have spiritual life with us, she went on, telling what an important part religion plays in the life of a community, and advising that more attention should be given to it than there is. "We're not in love with Jesus Christ, or we wouldn't have to be asked to take care of our churches," she said in speaking of the struggling efforts some churches must put forth.

Mrs. Reed closed her part of the program by reading a remarkable picture of Jesus as drawn by Publilius Lentulus, Roman Pro-Consul in Palestine who knew the Savior in Nazareth. The letter was written by the Roman Pro-Consul to a friend in Italy and expert antiquarians and students of history state that the letter is genuine.

This led to a strong appeal to the men of Kingston to study the teachings of Jesus about His Father with whom He was one as the infinitely tender and all-powerful Father and pattern of mankind today, if their sons are to follow on as leaders of today and tomorrow.

Taking the floor on conclusion of Mrs. Reed's talk, Mayor Heiseleman complimented her on her "frank appraisal" and advised that to promote culture, the industrial and commercial must be considered.

"The better things need support. How can we help?"

"We as a community cannot prosper unless we have employment for our people. They must have a chance for gainful employment, and a chance to really live before they can patronize the cultural side of life. We cannot go on forever getting help from the government. The working man must be given a chance.

"The trouble is, too few people are willing to serve. My one big complaint is that too few people come to see me unless they are looking for something. I'd like to see them come with ideas. I'm always glad to get suggestions and recommendations.

"I'm grateful to the Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Reed's good government committee for this meeting. I wish we could get other groups to be as interested."

After the mayor's speech there was a discussion period with suggestions offered by business men, professional men, teachers, lawyers, dentists, physicians, clergymen, etc., and at the conclusion of this, the mayor proposed the "advisory council."

Max Reben, of the industrial committee brought the program to a close with a challenge from the committee to all present to do their part for the worker. "Our people want to be taken from the relief rolls, they desire a chance in industry and it is up to all of us in a position to do so to help. The industrial committee needs money that the city cannot afford to place in its budget and it is up to us to raise it to promote industry." Mrs. Reben said support of the Industrial Minstrel at Renda's Kingston Theatre Friday, May 1, is one means of contributing, saying that the committee that brought even industries to Kingston must receive some consideration and support.

Industrial Minstrel Program Announced

Tonight's rehearsal for the Industrial Minstrel Show will be held at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium instead of at the Municipal Auditorium. Director Frank Oulton announced today. Starting time is 8.30, sharp, and every member of the cast is asked to be prompt, as a full rehearsal will be gone through in preparation for Friday's show at Renda's Kingston Theatre.

The program for the minstrel indicates that those who patronize it will have an enjoyable time. There is a variety of good songs, jokes, and novelties featuring some of Kingston's most talented performers, who are donating their services that the Industrial Committee might derive some sorely needed funds with which to promote the city.

Ticket sales are good, according to reports, but there are still a number of choice reserved seats left for those citizens wanting to do their bit in supporting the show and further the work of the Industrial Committee.

The program of the Minstrel follows:

It's a terrible world for business men. Just as a fellow begins to get a good start, along comes some politician or judge or inventor or style-dictator and spoils everything.

Bradley Bare of Brevity
Louisville, Ky., April 29 (AP).—Col. E. R. Bradley watched his own colts for the full derby route today and then said he thought Brevity, the winter book favorite, would win Saturday. "The master of Idle Hour

Farm and "Derby Dick" Thompson, his trainer, had placed their hopes chiefly on Banister, but they saw Brien Joll beat him again today, with neither colt showing much. "I think Brevity will win the derby," was Bradley's comment, and it was plain that he was disappointed.

Boy Scout Program For Summer Activities

The Camp Committee of the Ulster-Greene Council, Boy Scouts of America, adopted at their recent meeting the plan and program for the summer activities of the Scout organization. The full plans, for considerable increase in activity extension of the summer camping program beyond anything previously attempted.

In the bulletin just released to all troops throughout the area the following events are listed:

On Saturday, June 13, there will be a One-Day Troop Camp for all troops of the Council. This will take place at the Camp Half Moon site near Cairo. All troops will provide their own leadership, transportation, and food. The program which will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning will include games, contests, swimming period, and also the preparation and eating of foods. It is expected that practically all troops throughout the entire area will take advantage of this one-day event to visit Camp Half Moon and to acquaint themselves with the layout and equipment of the big camp.

A week-end troop leaders training camp has been scheduled to take place from Friday to Sunday, June 19 to 21. This camp is scheduled before the summer camp opens and will give every troop in the Council an opportunity to train a group of its older boys and Scoutmasters in troop camping. Those who participate will be divided into patrols and every patrol will be on its own. There will be instructions and demonstrations in cooking, selection of food, safety measures, water-front safety, and other items that are necessary for health and safety and enjoyment in small camp groups.

Camp Half Moon, the big camp of the Council, is scheduled to open on Sunday, July 5, and will operate through until August 2. The first period of the camp opens on July 5 and closes July 18, the second period opens July 19 and closes August 1.

The Camp Committee have announced that the weekly rate of the camp this year will be $7.50 for those who register on or before June 1, and those who register after June 1, will find a slight increase in the cost of board. All scouts should register with their Scoutmaster who in turn will file their application in the Council office.

The Camp Committee is now busy selecting the camp staff and will announce the entire group as soon as complete arrangements have been made. They are happy to announce that L. M. Cahill who has been camp director for the past 8 years will continue this summer.

Several features will be used in the main camp this summer. Saturday and Sunday, July 11 and 12, and July 25 and 26, will be Father and Son Week-end Camp when Scouts and their fathers will have an opportunity to enjoy camp life together. A new feature this year will be Mothers Day in camp. The first Mothers Day has been scheduled for Wednesday, July 15. There will also be the annual Service Clubs outing, due still to be selected.

Another increase in the plans this summer include a series of mountain hikes for older Scouts only. An effort is being made now to secure a base near Slide Mountain from which these trips of 1, 2, or 3 days may be taken. At this base there will be provision for parking of cars, stores of extra supplies, and some limited equipment.

The Camp Committee feel that with the plans for operation for the summer of 1936 that every Scout and every Troop can enjoy at least part of it and receive the many pleasures and benefits that come from such an experience.

Heads Registration Committee

Announcement has been made to the effect that James J. Jenkins, financial chairman for the Dutchess County C. E. Union and past president of the Millbrook Federated Christian Endeavor Society, has been chosen to lead the registration committee for the 45th annual New York State Christian Endeavor convention to be held in Poughkeepsie, July 2-5.

New York City Tour

Willard E. Rice, 310 Prudential Bldg., Buffalo, will send schedule and costs.

Wurts Street Officers

The Wurts Street Baptist organization announces the following officers elected for the ensuing year at the business meeting held Friday evening: President, C. Lee Powell; vice-president, Edna May Hamilton; secretary-treasurer, Phyllis Hogan.

There will be a social in the church rooms, Friday, May 1, which will open a drive for new members. All the young people that might be interested in joining with the Baptist Endeavor are cordially invited to be present. Next Sunday's meeting will be in charge of Marcia Brown and Dorothy Davis.

Bethany Activities

The calendar of activities for the Bethany Society for the coming week feature a meeting of the mid-channel group on Wednesday, a joint meeting of the Men's Club and the GGG's on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and a get-together of the Hobby Club on Friday. The public installation of officers was held Sunday evening.

Anniversary Celebration
On May 20 the Albany Avenue Baptist Endeavorers will sponsor an alumni banquet in celebration of the 50th anniversary of their organization, one of the oldest of its kind in this city. Some fine speakers have been procured for the event, promising a successful evening. Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from any of the society members.

Next Saturday afternoon the society will participate in a hike, the first that they have attempted in some time. All who plan to go on this outing are asked to meet at the church not later than 1 o'clock on Saturday.

Supper-Fireside Discussion
The Church of the Comforter Endeavor will close its second successful season since the reorganization two years ago, with a picnic supper and fireside discussion meeting on Sunday evening, May 17, at Shady.

Sponsors Church Bulletin

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Reformed Church in Kingston is sponsoring the weekly church bulletin. In furthering this project they will hold a food sale a week from this Saturday. This project costs approximately $200 a year, every penny of which is raised by the Endeavorers, which gives an idea of the value this service represents to the church. Last Sunday evening at the regular meeting, a Bible contest was held consisting of questions concerning the Bible, sides being chosen.

Mother's Day Service

The Port Even Endeavorers announce that their combined societies, the senior and intermediate, are planning a Mother's Day candlelight service in the church on Sunday evening, May 10. The seniors have had two of their Bible studies of the book of John—"A Study of John's Purpose in Writing the Book" and "What Others Said About Christ." The report states that "both discussions have been greatly enjoyed and have proven instructive." The intermediates presented their play "Ist Wednesday evening, before a large and appreciative audience."

Mr. Shults Found It A Long, Hard Winter, In New Hampshire

An interesting letter from Newton Shults (Shults Farms, So. Newbury, N. H.), notes that he has "stuck it out for two months" without The Freeman, but the loneliness without news from the old friends got unbearable and he encloses a check for renewal of subscription.

Mr. Shults writes that "it has been a long, hard winter. The snow that fell December 5 was still on our roof's March 15—by that time it had piled up to a depth of two and a half feet. Then the floods came but here on the Divide (three miles west of here, at an elevation of 1,000 feet, we enter the Connecticut river watershed), between the Merrimack and Connecticut, we suffered no damage, only the isolation of four days. Our railroad line—Concord to Claremont—is still out of commission, but buses are running as usual. The crop of lambs had to come with the floods, but we saved four out of six, and thankful to save those."

"Here, alone all winter we saw no down-country folks from October 1 until last Sunday. A flock of sheep, our faithful dog, our only companions. At times we were almost on the point of talking to the stove, but the Daily Freeman helped out and brought the home folks a little nearer."

Mr. Shults encloses an interesting full page picture showing the sentinel elms on Lexington Green, the monument marking the line of the Minute Men on April 19, 1775, and inscribed with the words of Captain Parker: "Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon, but if they mean to have a war, let it begin here."

Still, if radio people cannot use popular music, they can get along with the old classics it was stolen from.

JOBLESS CONTINUE OCCUPATION OF ASSEMBLY

New Jersey's jobless, making camp in the assembly chamber at Trenton, continued their occupation after the legislature adjourned without voting relief funds. The unemployed withdrew to the galleries for the session but immediately returned to the floor when the legislators left. Here is the scene as the jobless gave way to assemblymen, some of whom can be seen at their desks. (Associated Press Photo)

Numerous women were among the unemployed who filed the New Jersey legislature at Trenton to demand relief measures. A group is shown here grouped around an American flag in the gallery. (Associated Press Photo)

Hearing on Tuesday
On Little Action

There was a further hearing Tuesday before William P. Glass, as notary public, in the examination before trial ordered by the supreme court in the action brought by Thomas J. Little against the local motion picture projectionists union.
Mr. Little is suing in supreme court, charging conspiracy between certain individuals, officers and members of the union to prevent him securing a job as an operator. The matter dates back a number of years when Mr. Little was suspended from the union but later was reinstated by order of the supreme court. He now charges that since his reinstatement he has been prevented from getting a job through conspiracy.

At the examination Tuesday David

Fine Showing of Films
At Mt. Marion Men's Club April Meeting

An unusually interesting and pleasing showing of motion pictures was enjoyed by a large turnout of members of the Saugerties-Lister Men's Club, at their April meeting held at the Mt. Marion church hall Tuesday night.

The entertainment had been arranged by Roy M. Suttill of the Colonial City Chevrolet, the pictures being shown by H. D. Brewer of the Chevrolet corporation.

President William T. Hooley of Lake Katrine presided at the business meeting and Vice-president H.
Clinton Finger presented Mr. Suttill, who called upon Mr. Brewer to explain the program. The latter told about some of the pictures he was to show, including a new one never before shown in this territory, which he had received at Tarrytown that day. He said that the outfit he had charge of, made up of 18 heavy cases of equipment, including one of the most up to date and complete machines, giving both picture and sound effects, was only one of about 75 such outfits being used in the United States. Each one costs about $4,000. He carries a great variety of pictures and a new program is put out every three months. Mr. Brewer said that he averaged between two and three shows a day and had put on a show that afternoon in Stamford, Conn., before coming to Mt. Marion.

Among pictures shown Tuesday night was one to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Texas Rangers, full of exciting action another taken in cooperation with the U. S. Navy, a fine stepplechase picture, showing a steepchase and then an automobile going over the course and taking the hazardous jumps in competition with the horses —and beating them out. Other interesting films were shown, following which refreshments were served by the Men's Club.

"The only chance we had," he said, "was to get the Italians down into a plain and to overwhelm them with numbers, as we did at Adowa 40 years ago. We never suspected they had so many as now."

He said his Ethiopian followers did not know the whereabouts of Emperor Haile Selassie, but that they thought the emperor was with Ras Kassa and Ras Impu in northwestern Golljam Province.

Dedjazmatch Burru said he wants only peace now, with law, schools and roads. Hundreds of lesser and greater chiefs, and thousands of former soldiers of Emperor Haile Selassie, have submitted, like the Ded-jazmatch, during the last few days.
